

The moon has a face like the clock in the hall;
She shines on thieves on the garden wall,

DONE READING

0000

In the poem, what does the moon do?

turns

shines

tells time

smiles

0000

In the poem, what does the moon do?

turns

shines

tells time

smiles

GO

0008

TIME

What does "fork" mean in this poem?

a kind of nest

something to eat with a tired bird

place in a tree

0016

The yowling cat and the squeaking mouse,
The howling dog by the door of the house,

DONE READING

GO

0016

How does the mouse make noise?

by squeaking

by the house

by yelling

by barking

GO

Judith

TIME

0024

The bat that lies in bed at noon,
All love to be out by the light of the moon.

DONE READING

0024

Which animals love to be out by the light of the moon?

only bats

cats, mice, dogs, bats

only mice

because it's dark

0120

TIME

According to Kijoo, when is it good to have a teen-age brother?

need to talk to someone

want to play outside

want to run in the yard

need to reach something

0128

TIME

It's late afternoon, and Kijoo feels like playing. She taps on her brother's door. But he's playing loud music, and doesn't hear.

DONE READING

0128

TIME

Who is listening to loud music?

knock

people next door

Kijoo

Kijoo's brother

0136

Kijoo peeks in the door. Her brother pretends not to see her. He's working on his computer.

DONE READING

0136

What is Kijoo's brother doing?

cleaning his room

reading a book

using a computer

in the door

0144

Kijoo walks away, feeling lonely. Kijoo and her brother used to play a lot. They invented stories. They ran in the yard.

DONE READING

0144

Where did Kijoo and her brother used to run?

feeling lonely

to school

in the yard

in the street

0152

Now, Kijoo's brother doesn't play much anymore. He has new friends from a different school. He's always busy.

DONE READING

0152

Who doesn't play anymore?

Kijoo's sister

always busy

Kijoo's brother

Kijoo's friends

0160

Kijoo's brother has just become a teenager. Kijoo's mom tried to explain that kids change when they get older. But Kijoo couldn't really understand why.

DONE READING

0160

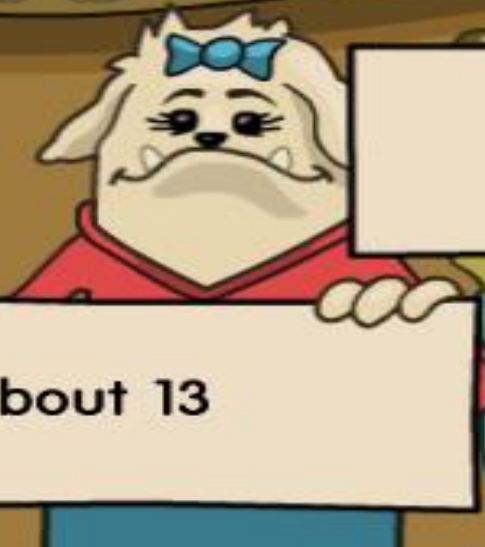

How old is Kijoo's brother?

change

about 10

about 13

about 7

0184

But there is at least one good thing about having a teen-age brother, thinks Kijoo. He can reach the top shelf of the refrigerator.

DONE READING

GO

0184

Who can reach the top shelf of the refrigerator?

people bigger than Kijoo

people smaller than Kijoo

only Mom and Dad

fruit and milk

0192

The library is a place where kids and adults go to read books. With a card, you can borrow the books for free.

0192

Who goes to the library?

lots of books

older kids only adults only anyone

0200

To find a book, you need to know its Dewey Decimal number. This tells you which shelf the book is on.

0200

How do you find a book?

on the shelf

go to the book store

get a Dewey Decimal number

get the page number

0208

Books about the same subject start with the same number, and are placed near one another on the shelves.

GO
A blue banner with a yellow circle containing the word "GO" and a row of yellow stars below it.

0208

What do books about the same subject do?

have the same color

start with the same number have the same pictures

at the same time

0216

For example, books about dinosaurs all have the same number. And these books will be near other books about animals.

0216

Why do books about dinosaurs start with the same number?

They share a subject.

They are near other books.

They are about animals.

We go to the library.

0224

A man named Melvil Dewey invented this system for giving books numbers. That's why we call the numbers Dewey Decimals.

GO

0224

Who was Melvil Dewey?

a man who made books

a man who hated math

a library

a man who made a system

0248

Before Dewey, books at the library were not kept in order. What a mess! It was almost impossible to find anything.

GO
A blue banner with a yellow circle containing the word "GO" and a row of yellow stars below it.

0248

TIME

A cartoon game show set. On the left, a hostess with a long neck and a wide, toothy grin stands behind a blue podium with a 'GO' sign and stars. In the center, a host, a small white dog with a blue bow and a red shirt, holds a sign. To the right, four contestants are visible: a yellow dog, a brown dog, a grey dog, and a white dog. Each contestant has a sign. The background features a red curtain and a score display showing '0248'. A 'TIME' indicator is in the top right corner.

Why was it hard to find books before Dewey?

They were finding things.

They were easy to read.

There were no libraries.

They were not kept in order.

0256

The library is a place where kids and adults go to read books. With a card, you can borrow the books for free.

DONE READING

0256

TIME

How do you borrow books?

at the front desk

by paying money

with a card

with a key

Judith

TIME

0264

To find a book, you need to know its Dewey Decimal number. This tells you which shelf the book is on.

GO

DONE READING

0264

TIME

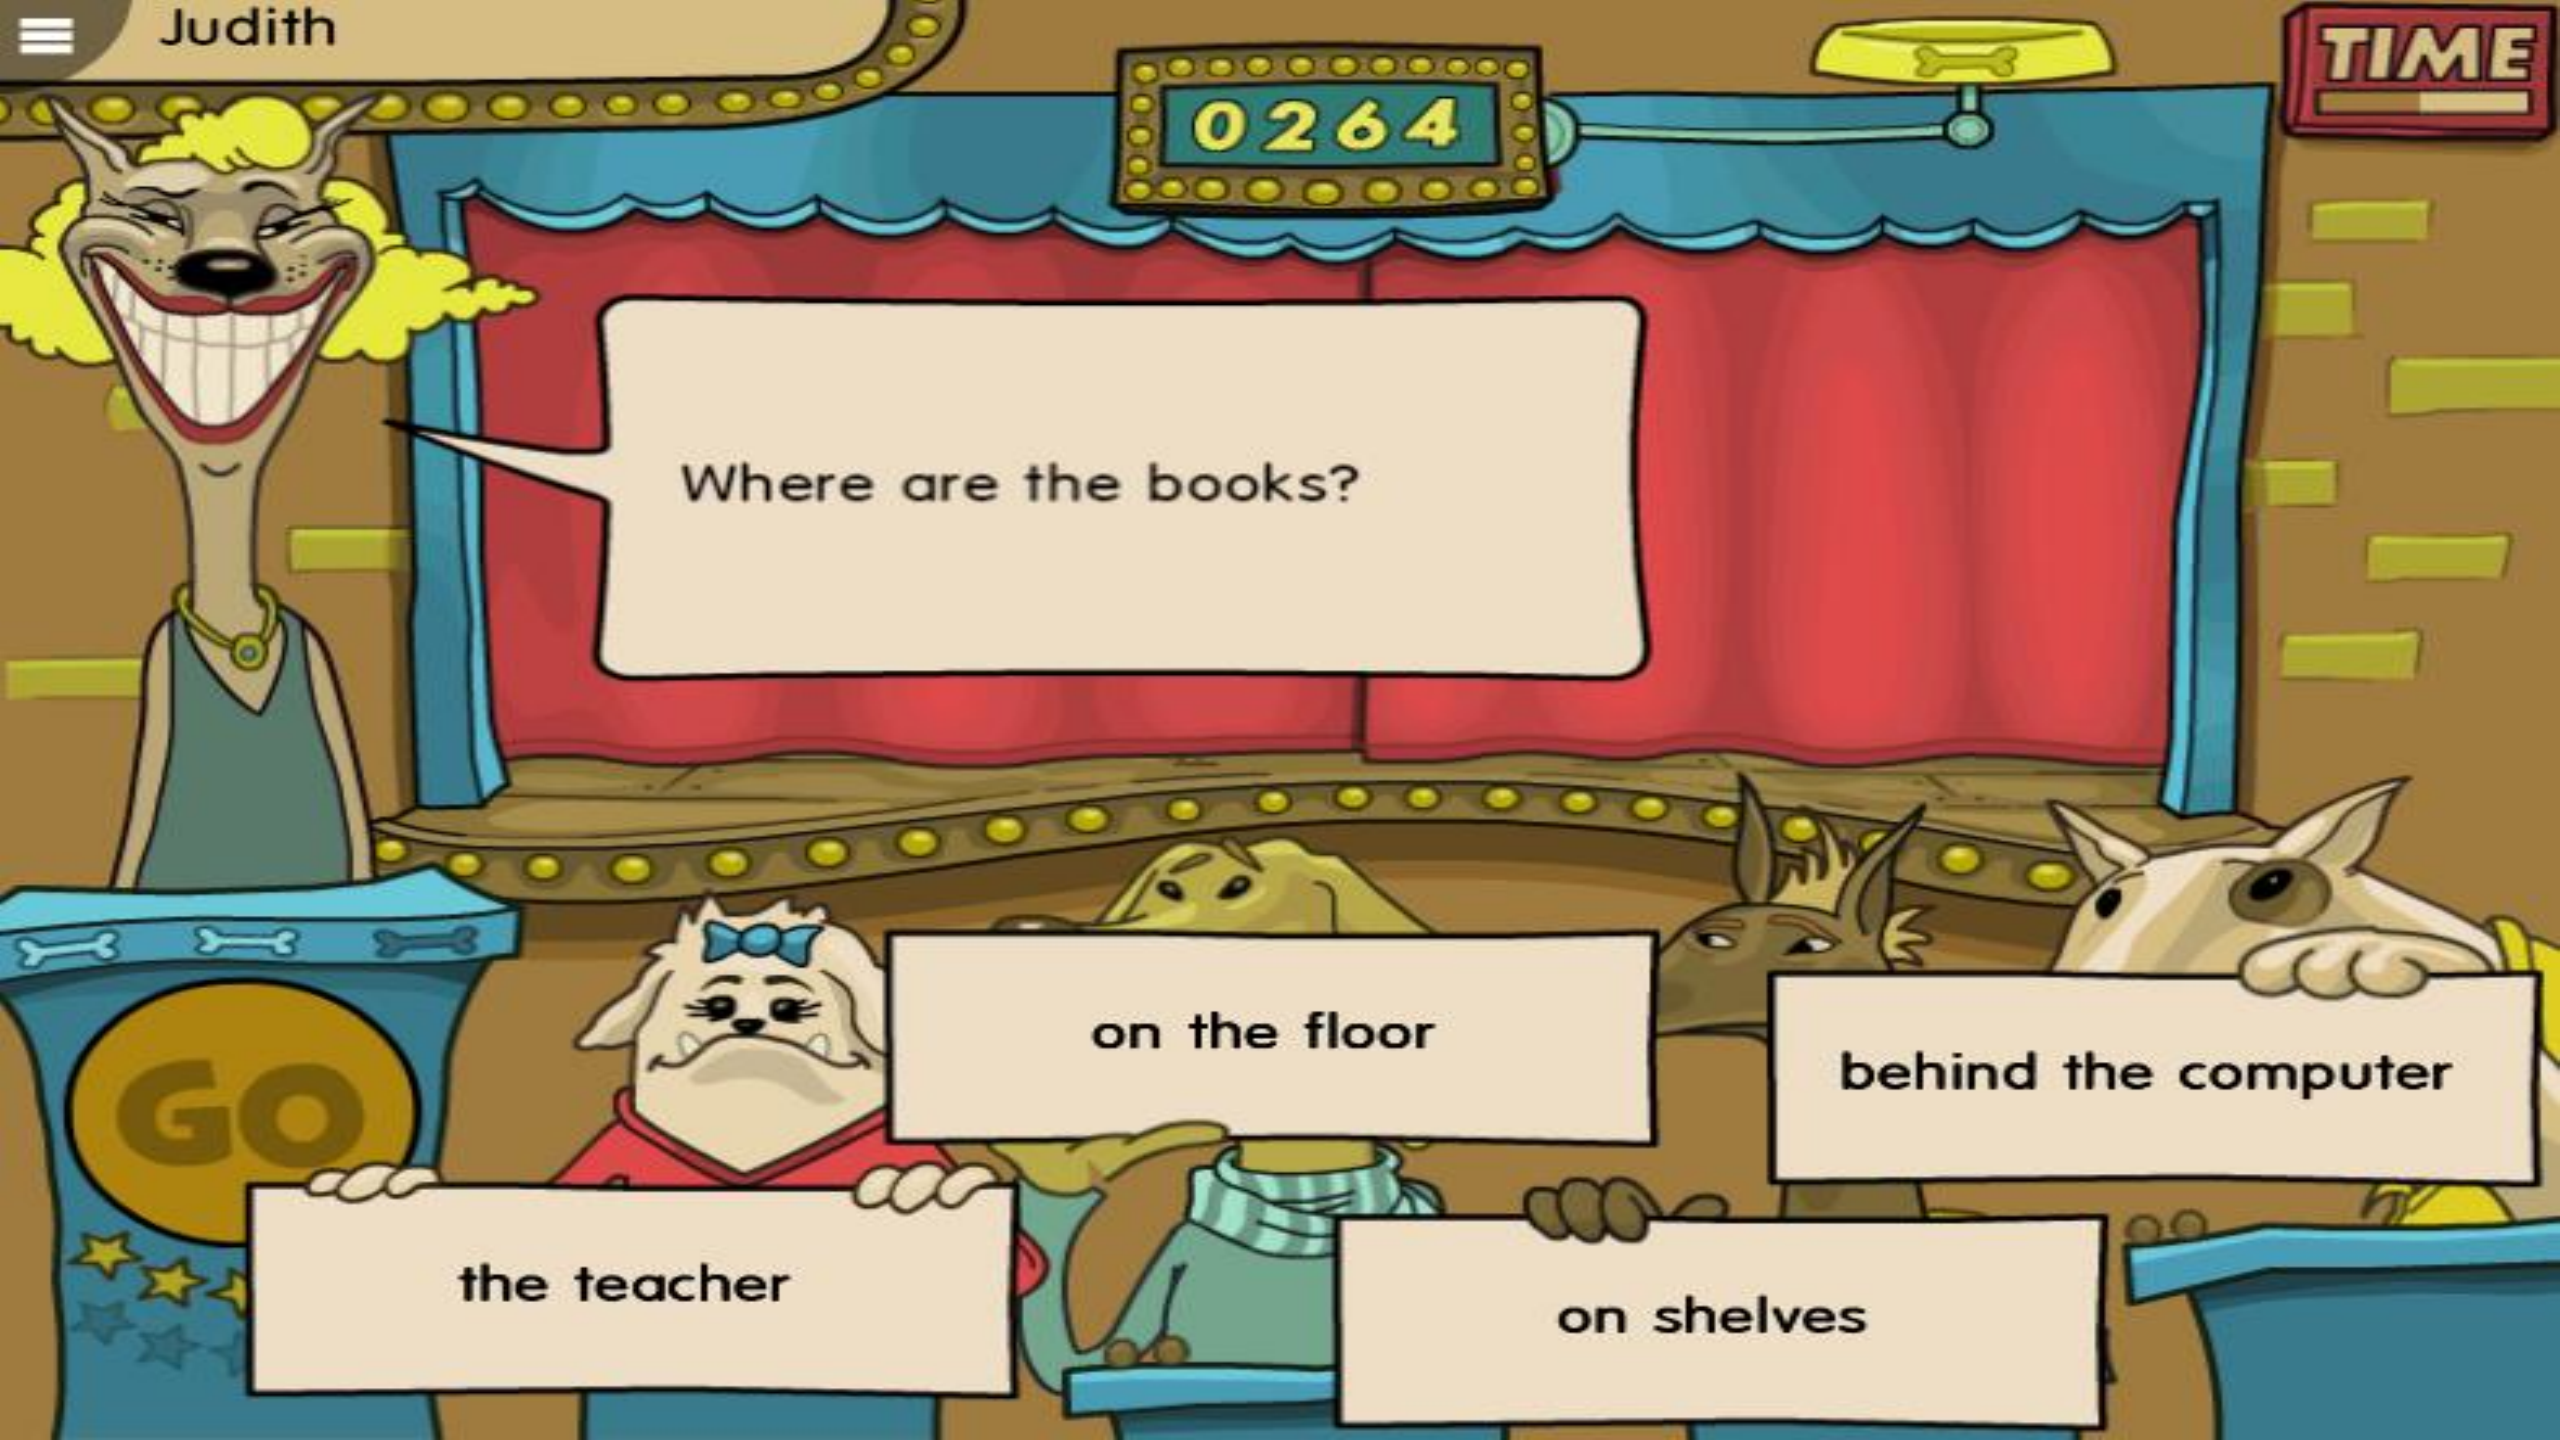

Where are the books?

on the floor

behind the computer

the teacher

on shelves

0272

Books about the same subject start with the same number, and are placed near one another on the shelves.

DONE READING

0272

Which books are near one another?

books that you can buy different shelves

books about the same subject

books that are small 0280

For example, books about dinosaurs all have the same number. And these books will be near other books about animals.

DONE READING

0280

Which books are near the books about dinosaurs?

books about other animals

books about numbers

books about trains

easy to find

A man named Melvil Dewey invented this system for giving books numbers. That's why we call the numbers Dewey Decimals.

DONE READING

0312

Before Dewey, books at the library were not kept in order. What a mess! It was almost impossible to find anything.

DONE READING

0312

What is this story about?

a large set of shelves

a place where people
read

a place where people
eat

Melvil Dewey

0312

Before Dewey, books at the library were not kept in order. What a mess! It was almost impossible to find anything.

DONE READING*GO

0312

What is this story about?

Melvil Dewey

a place where people
read

a place where people
eat

a large set of shelves

0313

In 1990, a group of people went to South Dakota. They were looking for dinosaur bones.

0313

Where did the people in the story go?

Florida

in 1990

South Dakota

North Dakota

0321

At the end of a long day of searching, the group had not found anything. The sun was setting, and they stopped working.

0321

TIME

What did the people find?

birds and rabbits

very tired

dirt and rocks

nothing

0329

But one explorer did not stop. Her name was Susan Hendrickson. She wanted to look at one more cliff.

GO
A blue banner with the word "GO" in a large, bold, sans-serif font. Below the banner are several small, five-pointed stars in blue and yellow.

Judith

TIME

0329

Who wanted to keep working?

Sally Hendrickson

Susan Hendrickson

James Hendrickson

Hendrick Sorenson

0337

As she approached the cliff, Susan saw a few bones sticking out. What a sight! The bones were huge.

GO

0337

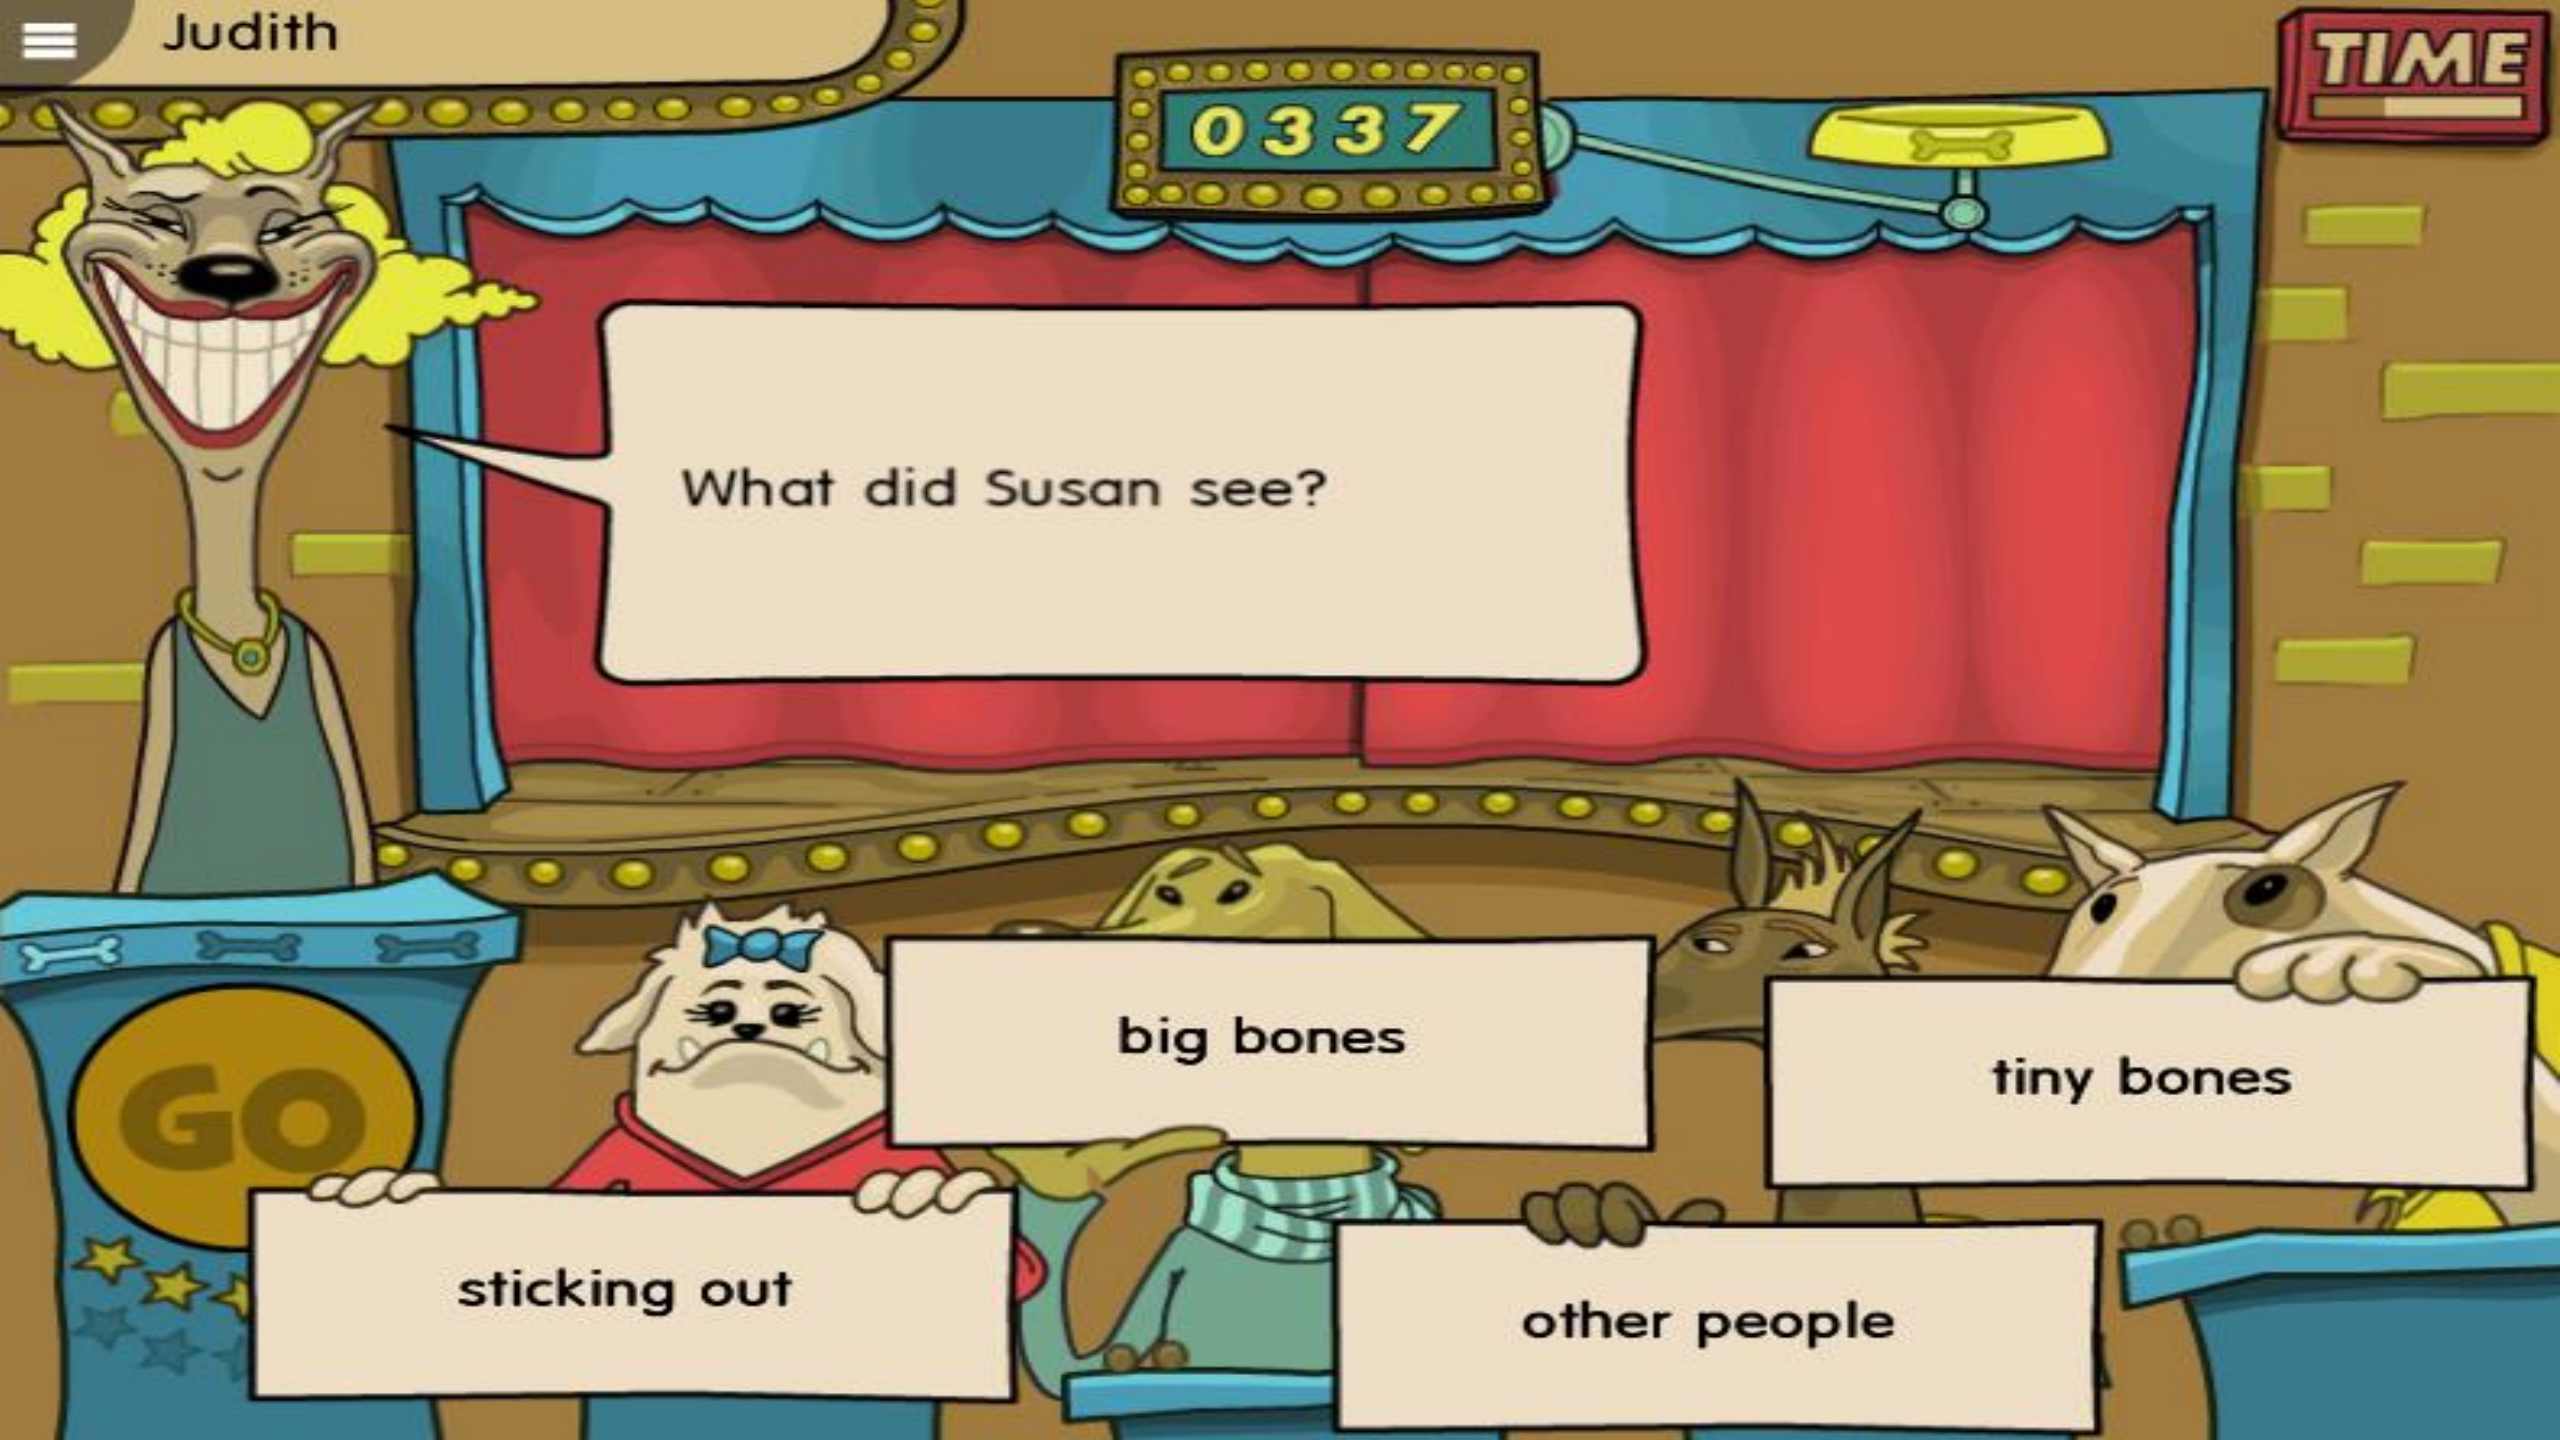

What did Susan see?

big bones

tiny bones

sticking out

other people

0345

Susan called the other people over. They began to dig. They found more bones. They realized that an entire dinosaur skeleton lay underground.

0345

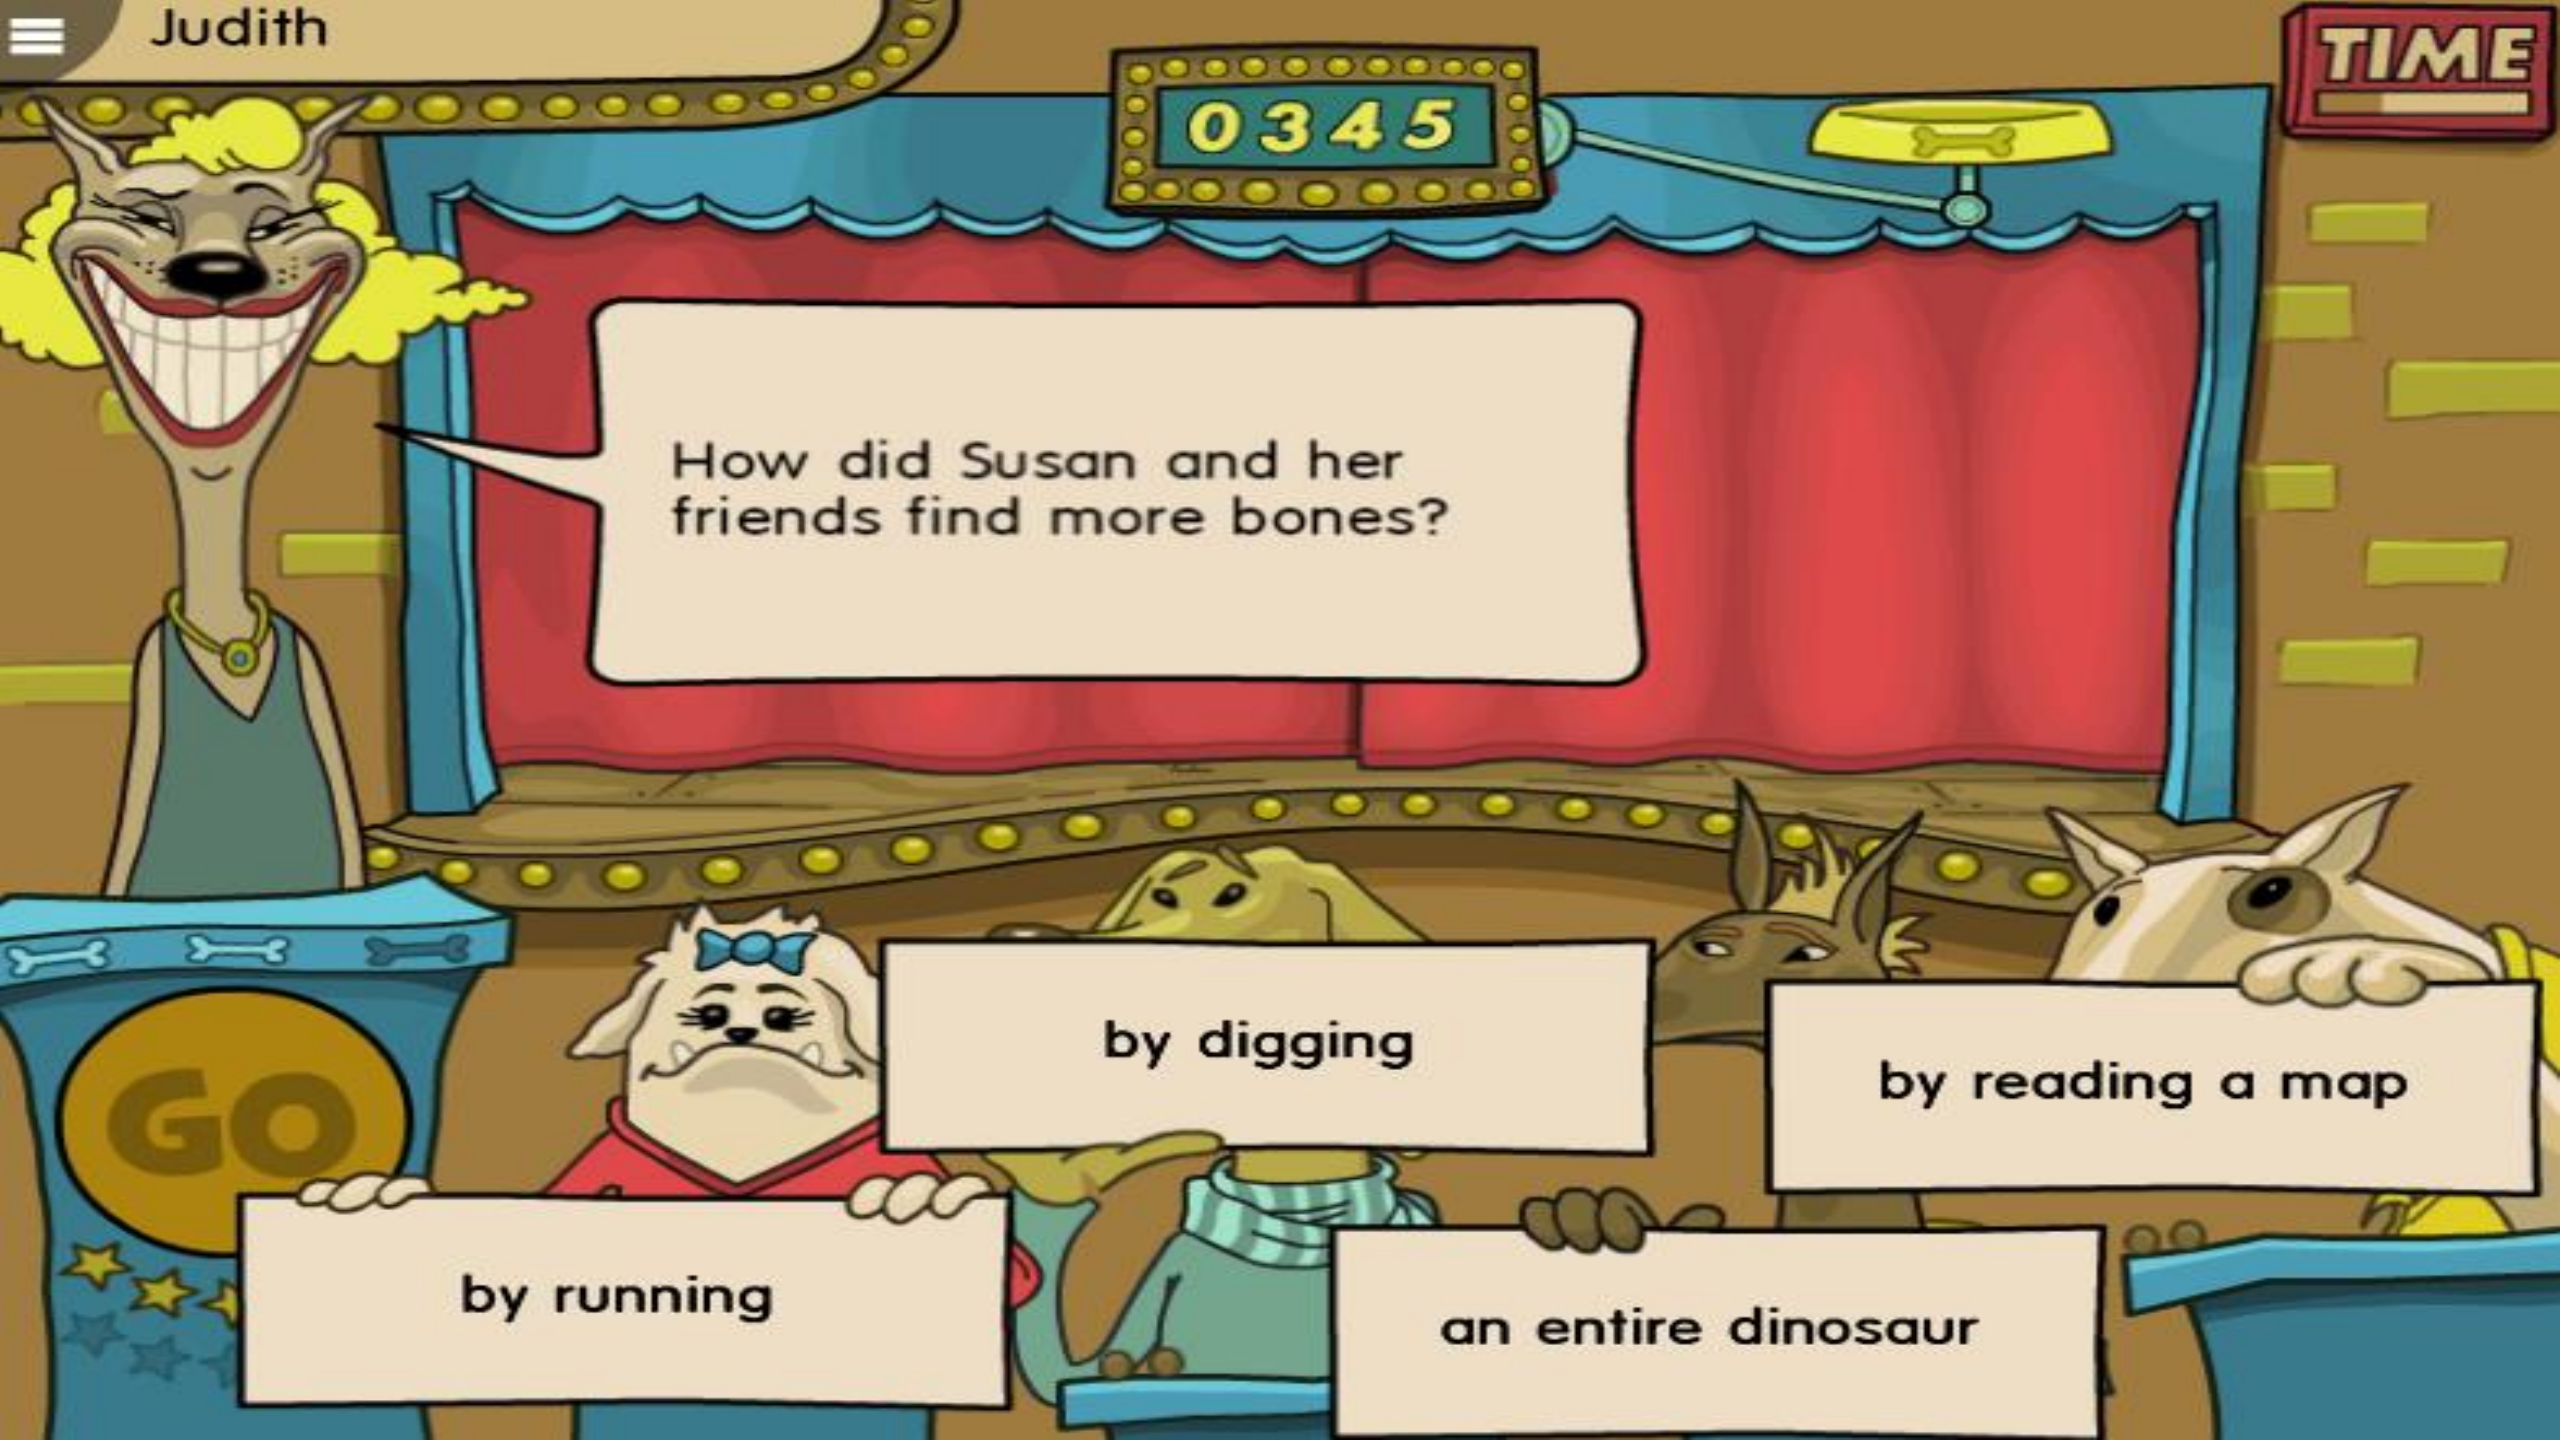

How did Susan and her friends find more bones?

by digging

by reading a map

by running

an entire dinosaur

0369

The dinosaur was a T. Rex. It was named Sue after the person who discovered it. Today you can see Sue's bones at a museum in Chicago.

Judith

0369

TIME

What kind of dinosaur was Sue?

Brontosaurus

T. Rex

hippo

person

0377

In 1990, a group of people went to South Dakota. They were looking for dinosaur bones.

DONE READING

0377

TIME

What were the people in the story looking for?

bones

a group

gold

teeth

0385

At the end of a long day of searching, the group had not found anything. The sun was setting, and they stopped working.

DONE READING

0385

When did the people stop working?

at the end of the year

in South Dakota

when they found a bone

at the end of the day

0393

But one explorer did not stop. Her name was Susan Hendrickson. She wanted to look at one more cliff.

DONE READING

0393

Why didn't Susan Hendrickson stop?

the rest of the group

She wanted to go home.

She wanted to see a cliff.

She wanted to see birds.

0401

As she approached the cliff, Susan saw a few bones sticking out. What a sight! The bones were huge.

DONE READING

0401

What does "approach"
mean
in this story?

move away

move closer

just a few climb up

0409

Susan called the other people over. They began to dig. They found more bones. They realized that an entire dinosaur skeleton lay underground.

DONE READING

0409

What does "skeleton"
mean?

a set of bones

a nest with eggs

a pair of claws

just one bone

0433

The dinosaur was a T. Rex. It was named Sue after the person who discovered it. Today you can see Sue's bones at a museum in Chicago.

DONE READING

0433

Where are Sue's bones now?

in South Dakota

in Chicago

discovering

on a cliff

0441

Bread and rice are common foods around the world. Meat costs too much for many people to buy. But bread and rice are cheap.

GO

0441

What foods are common around the world?

hot dogs

a lot of money

hamburgers

bread and rice

0449

People in different countries like different types of bread. Some like flat bread, others like puffy bread. Some like bread with seeds.

0449

What food is the story
talking about?

hungry

fruit

bread

seeds

0457

But the basic idea of bread is the same everywhere. To make it, you need flour. Flour can come from wheat or other crops.

0457

How can you make bread?

with fruit

with flour

everywhere

with meat

0465

You also need yeast. Wild yeast floats in the air. But yeast for baking comes in a packet.

0465

Where does wild yeast live?

you need it

in the air

in a blue house

in stories only

0473

When you mix flour, yeast, and water, you make a dough. If you let it rest, the dough begins to rise. The yeast makes this happen.

GO

0473

What is dough?

let it rest

a kind of flour

something you can't see a mix of things

0497

After the dough rises for a while, you put it in the oven to bake. Then the dough turns into bread.

GO

0497

Where do you put the dough?

in the sink

in the oven

after a while

next to the yeast

0505

Bread and rice are common foods around the world. Meat costs too much for many people to buy. But bread and rice are cheap.

DONE READING

0505

TIME

What does the word
"cheap" mean in this story?

has a low price

has a high price

looks like meat

tastes good

0513

People in different countries like different types of bread. Some like flat bread, others like puffy bread. Some like bread with seeds.

DONE READING

0513

TIME

In the story, how do people like their bread?

a country

always puffy

different ways

old and stale

0521

But the basic idea of bread is the same everywhere. To make it, you need flour. Flour can come from wheat or other crops.

DONE READING

0521

What does "flour" mean in this story?

a kind of bread

the same everywhere

a pretty plant

a food from wheat