

0000

Antonio Ant stayed up late one night, writing in his diary. "Another day, another bread crumb," he wrote. "I am tired of following other ants around, picking up yucky food that people spill on the floor. Why can't the rest of the ant family see that I am an individual? I need to experiment with life!"

Judith

TIME

0000

What kind of animal is Antonio?

ant

cat bread rat

0008

Antonio Ant stayed up late one night, writing in his diary. "Another day, another bread crumb," he wrote. "I am tired of following other ants around, picking up yucky food that people spill on the floor. Why can't the rest of the ant family see that I am an individual? I need to experiment with life!"

0008

When does the story begin?

late at night

at bed time

after dinner

early in morning

0016

Just then, Alfonso Ant cried out. "Mr. Harvey just spilled his midnight snack on the kitchen floor! Peanut butter on white bread! Everybody wake up!"

Antonio sighed. He did not want to go. Then he had an idea. "Maybe this is a chance to escape the ant life," thought Antonio. "No one will realize that I am gone."

0016

Which animal cries out to the others?

Antonio Ant

Mr. Harvey

snack

Alfonso Ant

0024

TIME

Just then, Alfonso Ant cried out. "Mr. Harvey just spilled his midnight snack on the kitchen floor! Peanut butter on white bread! Everybody wake up!"

Antonio sighed. He did not want to go. Then he had an idea. "Maybe this is a chance to escape the ant life," thought Antonio. "No one will realize that I am gone."

Judith

0024

TIME

Where is the peanut butter on white bread?

the refrigerator

the floor

the lunch bag

midnight

0048

By the next morning, Antonio had reached the Harveys' backyard. He was hungry. "I don't understand," he said to himself. "Finding food used to be so easy."

Two hours later, Alfonso found Antonio. "Don't you know that ants depend on one another?" he yelled. "Now come on, there's a nice piece of cupcake on the floor inside, I'll show you."

0048

What does Antonio want to do now?

drink something

easy

run fast

eat something

0024

Where is the peanut butter on white bread?

the lunch bag

the refrigerator

midnight

the floor

0048

TIME

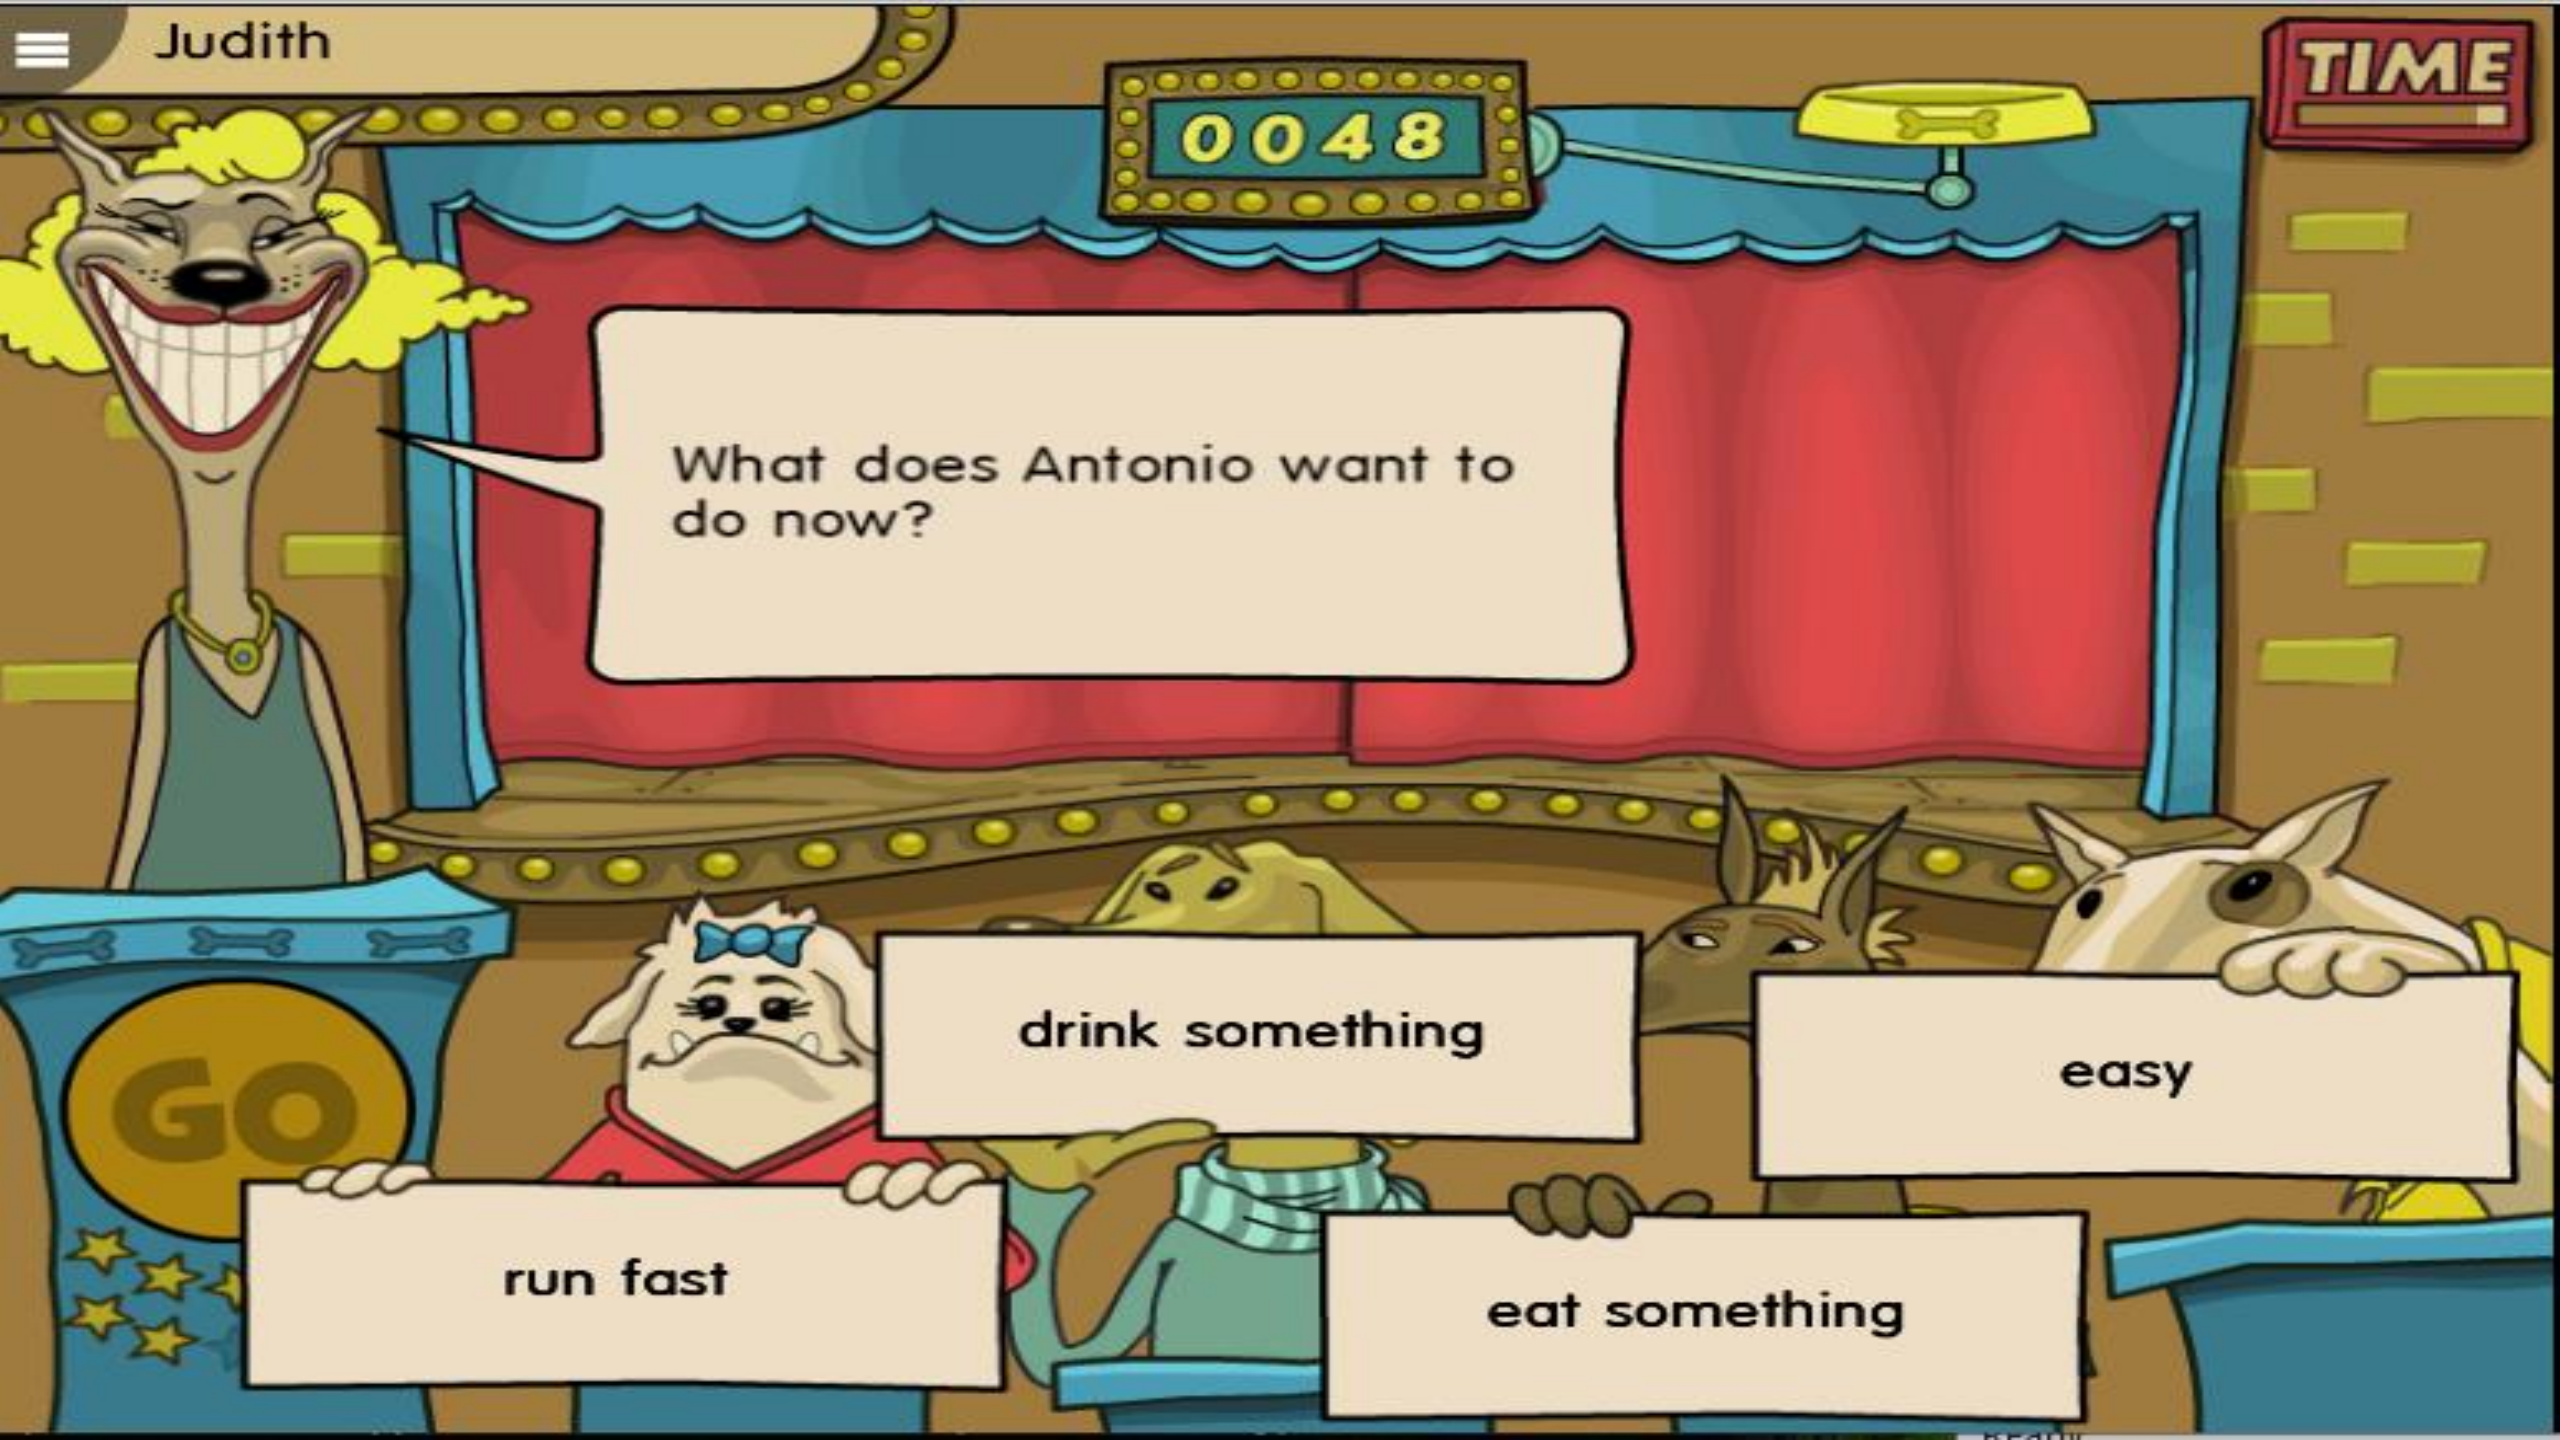

What does Antonio want to do now?

drink something

easy

run fast

eat something

0056

When does Antonio reach the backyard?

next morning

late at night

next afternoon

grass and trees

0064

Antonio Ant stayed up late one night, writing in his diary. "Another day, another bread crumb," he wrote. "I am tired of following other ants around, picking up yucky food that people spill on the floor. Why can't the rest of the ant family see that I am an individual? I need to experiment with life!"

DONE READING

0064

How does Antonio feel?

He sees the rest of the ants.

He is happy to be with his family.

He is hungry for a bread crumb.

He wants to be an individual.

0072

What was Antonio doing?

reading a book

tired of following eating a snack

writing in diary

0073

Just then, Alfonso Ant cried out. "Mr. Harvey just spilled his midnight snack on the kitchen floor! Peanut butter on white bread! Everybody wake up!"

Antonio sighed. He did not want to go. Then he had an idea. "Maybe this is a chance to escape the ant life," thought Antonio. "No one will realize that I am gone."

DONE READING

0073

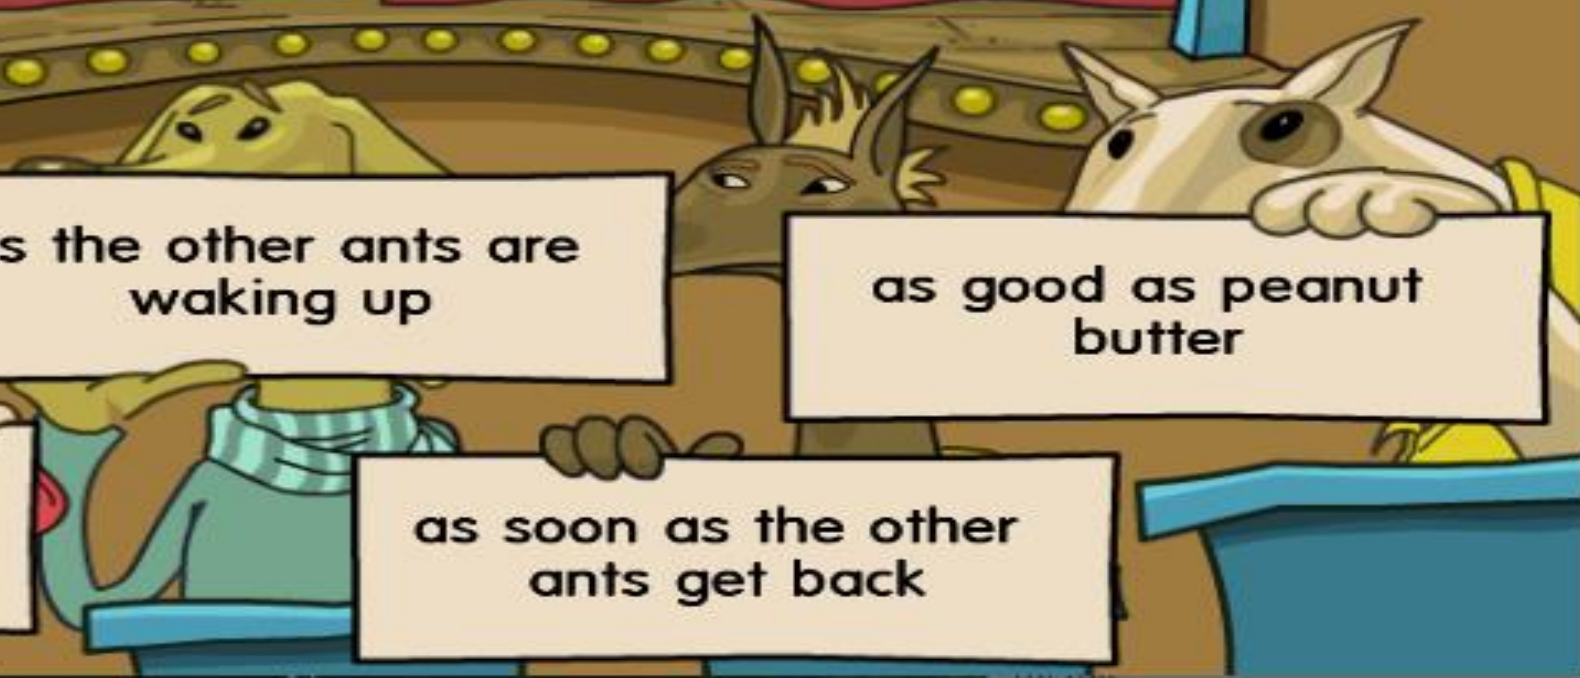

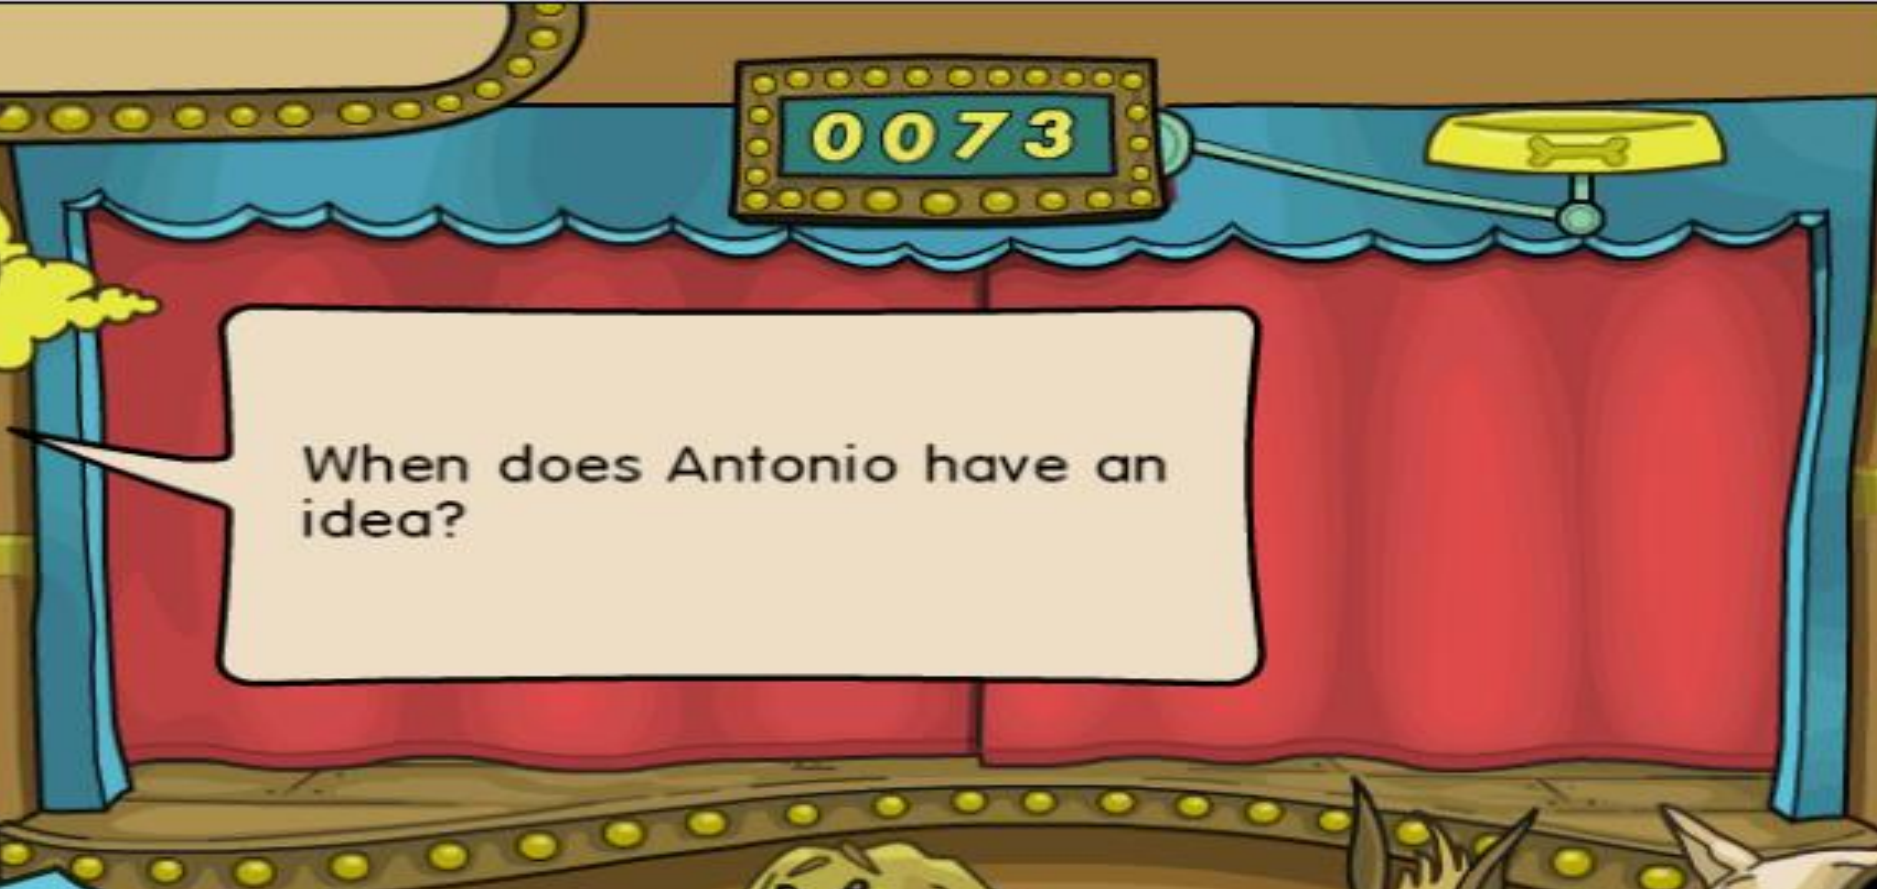

When does Antonio have an idea?

as all the ants have a party

as the other ants are waking up

as soon as the other ants get back

as good as peanut butter

Judith

0073

TIME

What does Antonio want to do?

escape

spill think cry

GO

0075

By the next morning, Antonio had reached the Harveys' backyard. He was hungry. "I don't understand," he said to himself. "Finding food used to be so easy."

Two hours later, Alfonso found Antonio. "Don't you know that ants depend on one another?" he yelled. "Now come on, there's a nice piece of cupcake on the floor inside, I'll show you."

DONE READING

Judith

0075

TIME

Which animal finds Antonio?

Alfonso Ant

cat

cupcake mouse

0091

TIME

During the day, there is lots of light. We can see many different colors. If we look outside, we can see green grass, brown tree trunks, and red and yellow flowers. But things seem to change at night. There is almost no light. And the colors go away! If we look outside, everything is black and white -- even the flowers.

0091

What can we see during the day?

in the morning

many colors

black things only white things only

0099

TIME

According to the story, when is there lots of light?

outside tomorrow night

day

0123

TIME

Of course, the flowers do not really lose their colors at night. Neither do the tree trunks or the grass. They will be brown, or green, or red or yellow again the next day. The colors are still there. We just cannot see them, because our eyes work differently when it is dark.

0123

What objects does the story talk about?

dirt, bushes, rocks

purple, orange, pink

tree trunks, grass, flowers

carrots, apples, grapes

0131

What colors does the story talk about?

purple, orange, pink

brown, green, red, yellow tree trunks, grass, flowers

sun, moon, stars

0139

You can try an experiment. When you go from a sunny area into a dark room, something happens. Your eyes cannot see right away. Gradually, they come back alive, but it takes a few moments. Then you can see again, but without all the colors you saw outside. This is how you know that eyes work differently in the daylight and in the dark.

0139

What happens when you go into a dark room?

Nothing changes.

Your eyes cannot see.

It's time for bed.

You open the window.

Judith

TIME

0147

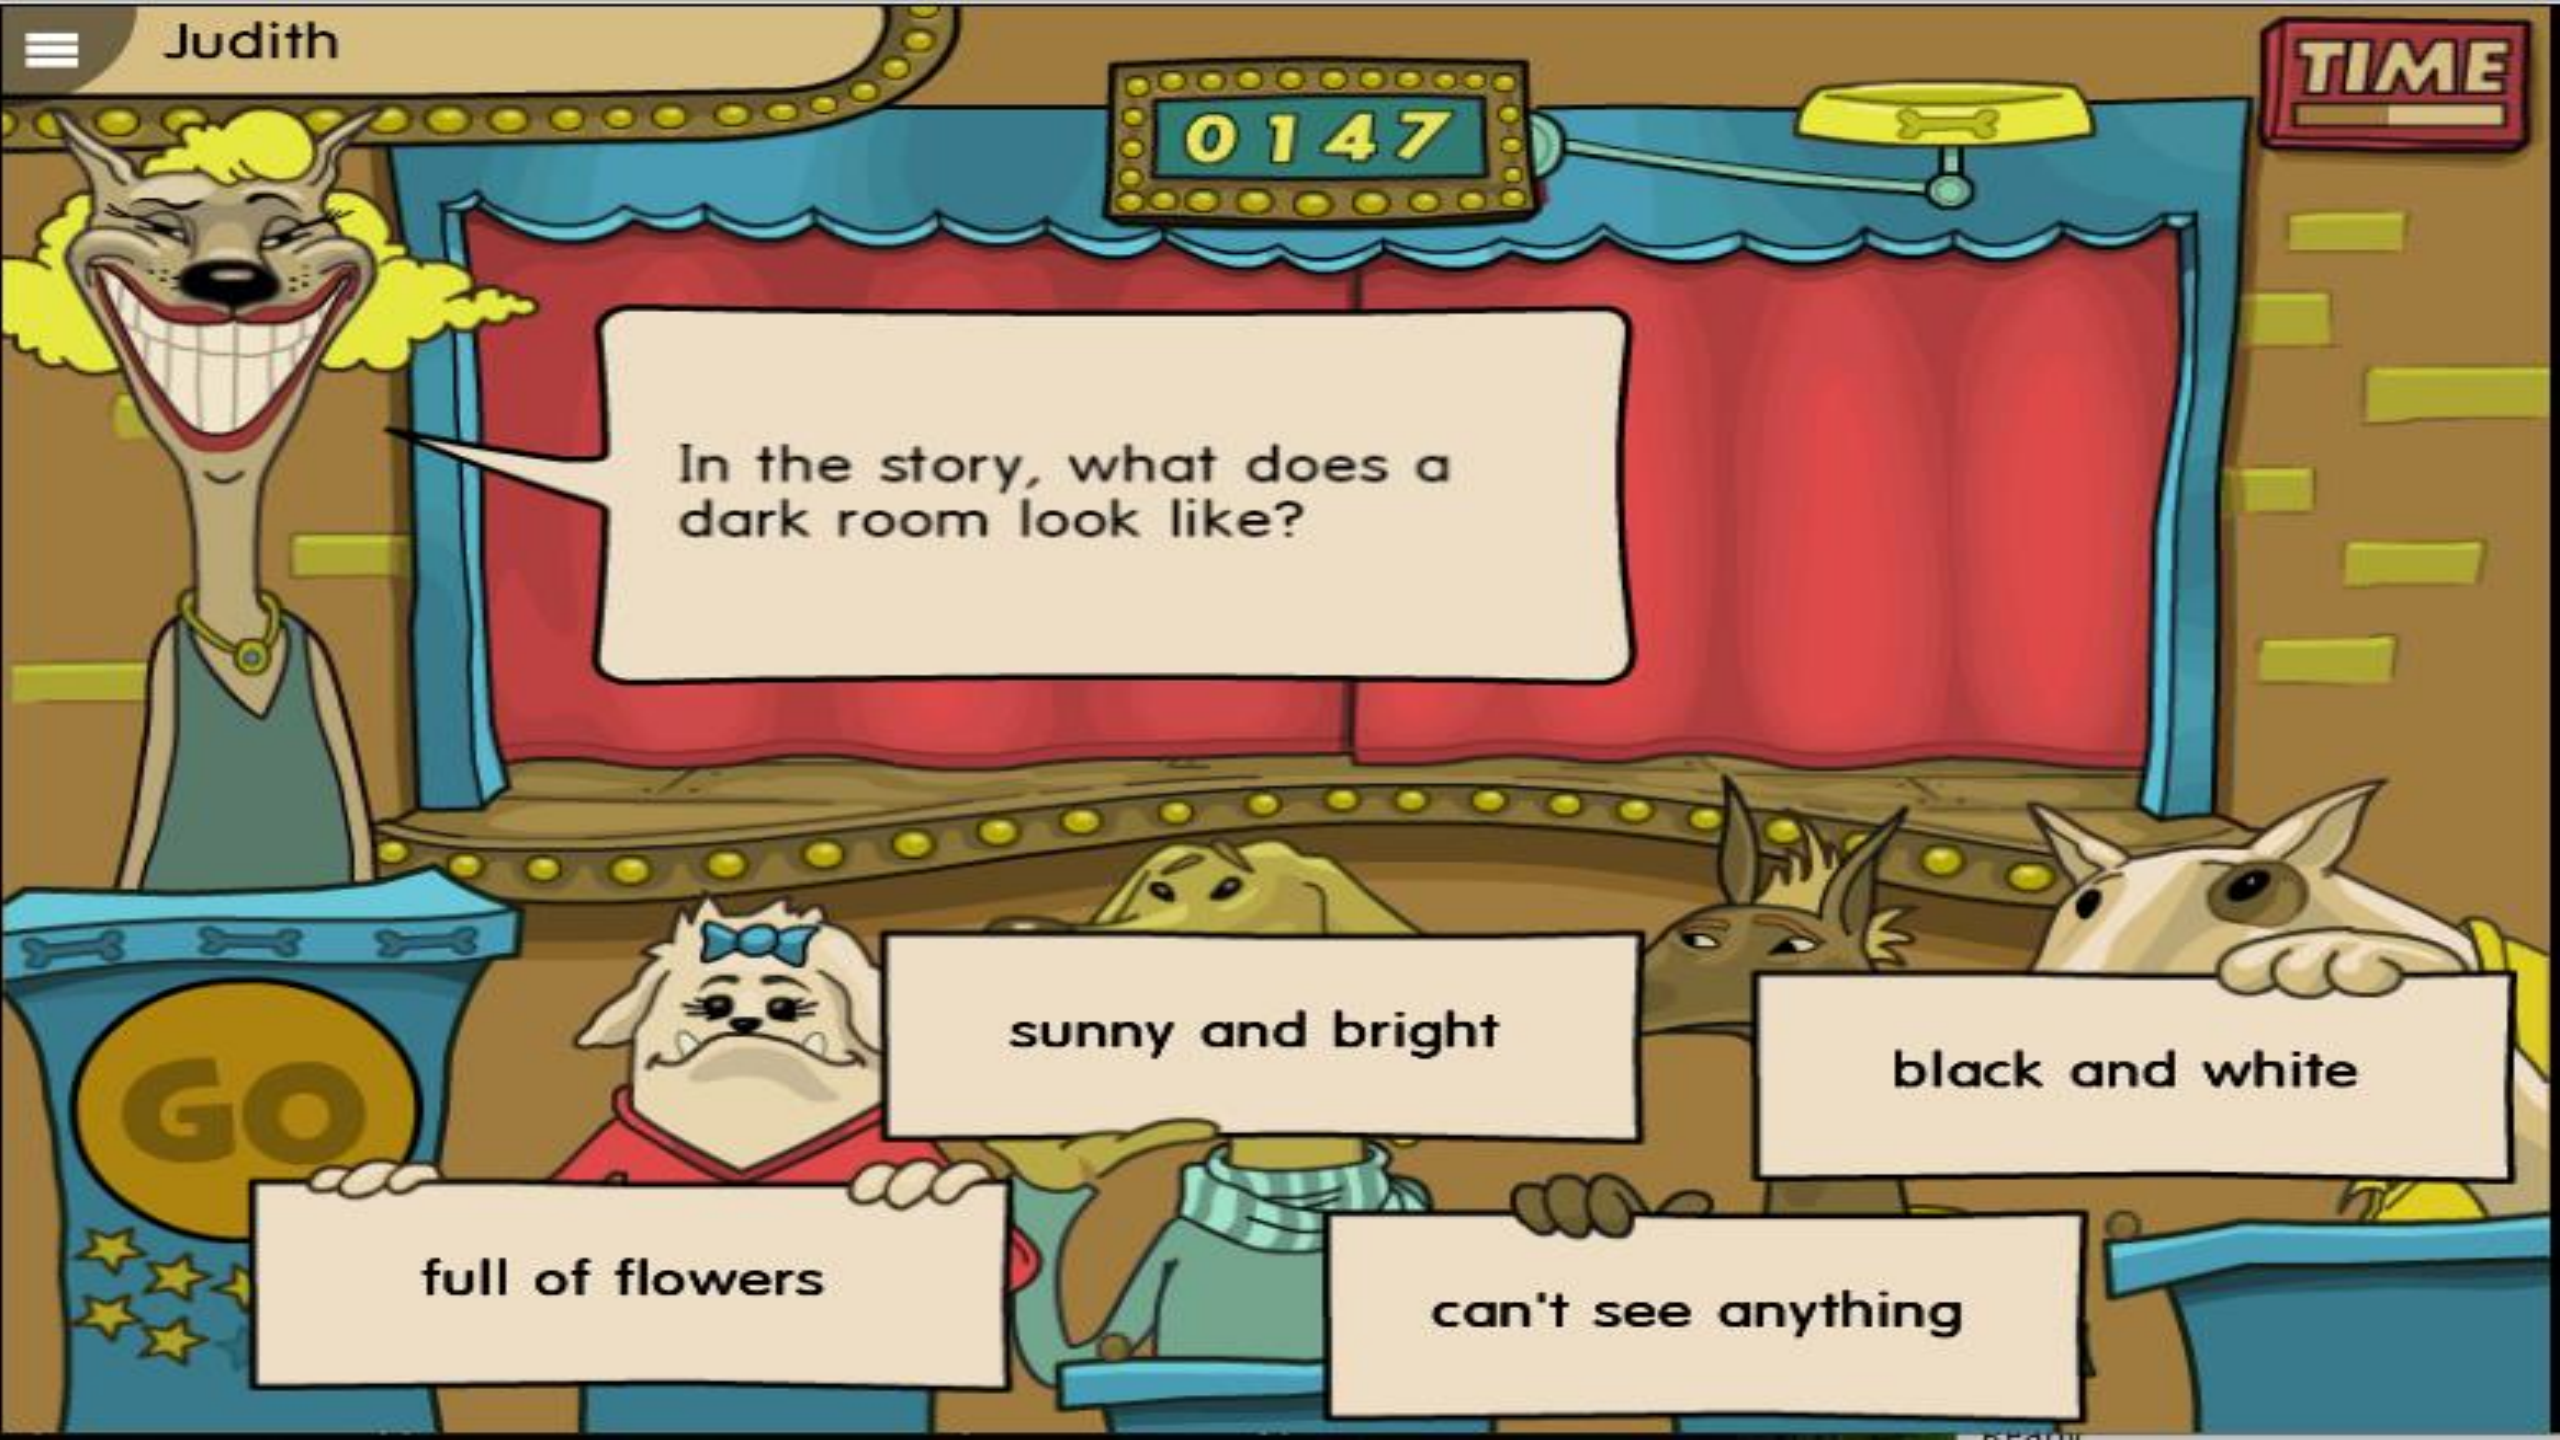

In the story, what does a dark room look like?

sunny and bright

black and white

full of flowers

can't see anything

0148

During the day, there is lots of light. We can see many different colors. If we look outside, we can see green grass, brown tree trunks, and red and yellow flowers. But things seem to change at night. There is almost no light. And the colors go away! If we look outside, everything is black and white -- even the flowers.

DONE READING

Judith

TIME

0156

How do flowers look at night?

black and white

colorful

next to a tree trunk

very pretty

0164

Of course, the flowers do not really lose their colors at night. Neither do the tree trunks or the grass. They will be brown, or green, or red or yellow again the next day. The colors are still there. We just cannot see them, because our eyes work differently when it is dark.

DONE READING

0164

Why can't we see colors at night?

Autumn is coming.

Our eyes work differently.

not during the day

flowers fading

0172

What will happen the next day?

It will be dark all day.

We will see colors again.

More flowers will grow.

It is in the trees.

0180

You can try an experiment. When you go from a sunny area into a dark room, something happens. Your eyes cannot see right away. Gradually, they come back alive, but it takes a few moments. Then you can see again, but without all the colors you saw outside. This is how you know that eyes work differently in the daylight and in the dark.

DONE READING

0180

What is an "experiment"?

new feelings

a lot of smoke

the test of an idea

just a few moments

GO

0204

TIME

What does the word
"gradually" mean in this story?

a person who can't see colorful slowly quickly

0212

TIME

Antonio Ant stayed up late one night, writing in his diary. "Another day, another bread crumb," he wrote. "I am tired of following other ants around, picking up yucky food that people spill on the floor. Why can't the rest of the ant family see that I am an individual? I need to experiment with life!"

0212

TIME

When does the story begin?

late at night

after dinner

early in morning

at bed time

Judith

0220

TIME

What kind of animal is Antonio?

0228

Just then, Alfonso Ant cried out. "Mr. Harvey just spilled his midnight snack on the kitchen floor! Peanut butter on white bread! Everybody wake up!"

Antonio sighed. He did not want to go. Then he had an idea. "Maybe this is a chance to escape the ant life," thought Antonio. "No one will realize that I am gone."

Judith

TIME

0228

Where is the peanut butter on white bread?

the lunch bag

the floor

midnight

the refrigerator

0236

Which animal cries out to the others?

Alfonso Ant

snack

Mr. Harvey

Antonio Ant

0244

TIME

By the next morning, Antonio had reached the Harveys' backyard. He was hungry. "I don't understand," he said to himself. "Finding food used to be so easy."

Two hours later, Alfonso found Antonio. "Don't you know that ants depend on one another?" he yelled. "Now come on, there's a nice piece of cupcake on the floor inside, I'll show you."

0244

What does Antonio want to do now?

eat something

drink something

run fast

0268

When does Antonio reach the backyard?

grass and trees

late at night

next morning

next afternoon

0276

Antonio Ant stayed up late one night, writing in his diary. "Another day, another bread crumb," he wrote. "I am tired of following other ants around, picking up yucky food that people spill on the floor. Why can't the rest of the ant family see that I am an individual? I need to experiment with life!"

DONE READING

0276

How does Antonio feel?

He wants to be an individual.

He is happy to be with his family.

He sees the rest of the ants.

He is hungry for a bread crumb.

0284

What was Antonio doing?

writing in diary

reading a book

eating a snack

tired of following

0292

Just then, Alfonso Ant cried out. "Mr. Harvey just spilled his midnight snack on the kitchen floor! Peanut butter on white bread! Everybody wake up!"

Antonio sighed. He did not want to go. Then he had an idea. "Maybe this is a chance to escape the ant life," thought Antonio. "No one will realize that I am gone."

DONE READING

0292

What does Antonio want to do?

cry

escape

think spill

0300

When does Antonio have an idea?

as the other ants are waking up

as all the ants have a party

as soon as the other ants get back

as good as peanut butter

0308

By the next morning, Antonio had reached the Harveys' backyard. He was hungry. "I don't understand," he said to himself. "Finding food used to be so easy."

Two hours later, Alfonso found Antonio. "Don't you know that ants depend on one another?" he yelled. "Now come on, there's a nice piece of cupcake on the floor inside, I'll show you."

DONE READING

0332

How will Antonio find the piece of cupcake?

two hours later

by searching the yard

by following Alfonso

by being individual

0348

High Temperatures This Week

How many days was the high temperature 65 degrees?

2

5

0

1

0348

High Temperatures This Week

What will the temperature be like next week?

It will rain all week.

Monday will be warm.

You can't tell from the graph.

Tuesday will be 70 degrees.

0349

High Temperatures This Week

According to the graph, Friday was warmer than:

Wednesday

Tuesday

Monday

It rained.